Guidance Help Workshop

The guidance department will be holding its annual Help Workshop on October 20, 2010. Receive information on college planning, financial aid, NCAA requirements, and career planning.

This newsletter will be mailed home every month. It will contain information about scholarships as well as other information important to seniors and their parents. Most of the local scholarships will be offered after the first of the year. It is the student's responsibility to obtain a copy of the application and to return it completed to the guidance office.

ASVAB Testing

There are opportunities available to young men and women who can qualify for today's ARMED FORCES. Each branch of the military offers programs of training and technical schooling as well as an excellent college scholarship program. Any senior interested in taking the vocational test for the armed services needs to sign up for the test in the Guidance Office. The test is free and will be administered at LCMRHS on November 16th and April 12th.

~New Resource~

Naviance is a new career and college search tool available to all students. Take career surveys, research occupations, perform college searches, and look up scholarships from your personalized Naviance Family Connection account. For more information on how to register, contact your guidance counselor.

COMMON APPLICATION

The Common College Application is available through the National Association of Secondary School Principals. Students need only to complete this application once when applying to any of the participating independent colleges and universities who utilize this form. The list of schools using the common application is available in the Guidance Office.

COLLEGE ADMISSIONS TESTING

Seniors who plan to attend a four-year college and have not taken a college admissions test need to do so very soon. Those who have tested may choose to retake either test in order to try for a higher score. The registration packets for the SAT I, SAT II Subject, and ACT tests are now available in the Guidance Office. You may check the college catalogs or talk with your counselor if you are unsure which test(s) to take. The high school code number for Lower Cape May Regional High School is 310210. Students planning to attend a community college will not need to take the SAT or the ACT.

The testing schedule for the 2010-2011 school year is listed below.

SAT I & SAT II SUBJECT TESTS

The cost of the ACT without the writing component is $33.00 and with the writing component is $48.00. Please check the registration packet for test site locations.

ADMISSIONS: EARLY DECISION OPTION

If you are considering early decision for admission, check immediately with your college of choice for their specific requirements. These deadlines are rapidly approaching and you must plan now if this option is important to you.

COLLEGE APPLICATIONS

Now is when you should be in contact with colleges, securing their applications, filling out their applications, and submitting the different kinds of paperwork required. All colleges have deadlines, some in the fall and others early in the new year.

Check your catalogs and don't be caught by a passed deadline. It is your responsibility to determine where you want to apply and what the specific requirements are. Information is available in the Counselors' Office to assist you.

Note: It is important that you give teachers and/or counselors 2-3 weeks notice if you want them to write a letter of recommendation. Please plan ahead so you won't miss any deadlines.

ATTENTION SENIOR BOYS

Something to add to your list of things to do today-you need to register with Selective Service. It is not the Army, it's not the draft, no one's going to your house-it's just one of the things a man's gotta do. If you are 18, you have to register within 30 days of your 18th birthday. It's the law! If you are 17, you can submit registration information and when you're 18, you'll be registered automatically. Registering keeps you eligible for Federal college loans, grants, and student aid in most states. You can register on-line at www.sss.gov, you can fill out a registration card at any U.S. Post Office or you can send back the registration card you may have received in the mail. If you have any questions, check with your Guidance Counselor.

WHAT DO THEY LOOK AT?

Admissions officers consider these factors in roughly the following order of importance:

1. Grade Point Average/Difficulty in Curriculum
2. SAT I & SAT II scores
3. Class Rank
4. Application essays
5. Extracurricular activities
6. Recommendations
7. Interviews
8. Intangibles

Of course, every college is different. The larger the school, the less time it has to spend with your application (sometimes less than five minutes). Big state schools rarely reach number three on this list. Small schools may look past weak grades or test scores if they see something special about you.

SCHOLARSHIP ANNOUNCEMENTS

SENIORS WHO HAVE ACCUMULATED A SIGNIFICANT NUMBER OF COMMUNITY SERVICE HOURS (BOTH SCHOOL RELATED AND NON-SCHOOL RELATED) SHOULD SEE MS.MARKOVITZ IMMEDIATELY.

Tips for a Killer Essay

With more colleges asking unique essay questions, the student's job of writing an interesting essay has become more challenging and more time consuming. Those students applying to multiple colleges are no longer able to simply rehash the standard question for each school. Here are seven tips to guide you through the evolving world of the college essay.

1. Treat the essay seriously, but be creative and original.
2. Allow yourself at least a month to think about, write, review, and revise your essay.
3. Outline your ideas first, so you know where you're going.
4. Make sure you answer the question completely, providing specific examples to back up your points.
5. Use your own voice, and don't just respond with what you think a college would like to hear.
6. Get a second opinion on your first draft—from a friend, family member, or teacher.
7. Proofread carefully, and submit a neatly typed version.

Test Strategy

Get Familiar. Learn the content and format of the test.

Practice, Practice, Practice!!

Get your rest. Get plenty of sleep the night before the test, and leave yourself enough time to get to the test site. Arrive at least 30 minutes before the exam and bring necessary materials to the test site: admission ticket, photo identification, several pre-sharpened pencils with good erasers and a calculator.

During the test, remember to:

- *read the directions and questions carefully
- *pace yourself
- *answer easy questions first
- *use logical reasoning a process of elimination for tougher questions
- *review your work
- *be precise in marking your answer document
- *erase wrong answers completely

The most important advice: Stay cool, calm, and collected. Don't let the test stress you out.

College Application Reminders

- Register and take the SAT or ACT as quickly as possible, if needed. NOW!
- After investigation, narrow your college list to a manageable number. NOW!
- Write, call, fax, or go on-line with each college to request information and applications for admissions, scholarships, financial aid, housing, etc. NOW!
- Complete and submit application for admissions well in advance of deadlines. Do the same for housing, scholarships, and financial aid. SOON!
- Attend the Financial Aid Meeting in December at LCMRHS (date to follow). The FAFSA (Free Application for Federal Student Aid) will be distributed at the meeting and will be available in the Guidance Office following the meeting. This form is to be mailed on or after January 1, 2011. (Note: some private schools use the CSS Profile application also. Follow your school's instructions.)

Remember: The best source of information about a particular college is their own catalog. Also, the best source of financial aid information is the Financial Aid office of the college to which you are applying.

SAT vs. ACT

The road to college can be a confusing and hectic' one. Choosing the right admissions test to take-SAT or ACT-doesn't have to be. While most colleges across the country accept scores from either test, the SAT and ACT are significantly different, and in many ways, they measure different skills. Check with your guidance counselor and preferred colleges, then use the information below to decide which test is right for you.

Differences at a glance:

SAT

no science section

no trigonometry section

vocabulary emphasized

non multiple-choice questions included

guess penalty

no English grammar

Math accounts for 50% of your score

questions go from easy to hard in most sections

all your SAT scores reported to colleges

ACT

science reasoning section

math sections include trigonometry

vocabulary less important

entirely multiple choice

no guessing penalty

English grammar tested

math accounts for 25% of your score

easy and hard questions mixed within sections

report scores only from the test dates you choose
